Paid short-term abroad is an option if you want to experience total cultural immersion or earn enough to support an overseas adventure. Job opportunities will range in duration from a few months to a few years and you must have a work permit issued by your host country. Programs differ in compensation, some paying in wage while others paying in-kind (room and board). There are two main types of paid short term work abroad programs.

- Work Permit Programs [1]
  Programs that enable you to get a work permit in advance and then look for a job on site, assisted by overseas offices. BUNAC [2] is one popular example.

- Work Placement Programs [3]
  Programs that place you in a job, procure work permits, and sometimes assist with housing. Usually works as part of an overseas "exchange".

---

Source URL: https://internationalcenter.umich.edu/abroad/swt/work/paid-short-term

Links
[1] https://internationalcenter.umich.edu/abroad/swt/work/work-permit-programs
[3] https://internationalcenter.umich.edu/abroad/swt/work/work-placement-programs