U.S. and Midwest Culture

- Midwest Americans are friendly, but they like to keep personal life private. Don’t be surprised if it takes a while to make close friendships.
  - Smiling, saying good morning/hello, but no conversation following
  - Don’t ask: age, weight, sexual orientation, relationship status, political views, income level, etc. when initially meeting people.

- U-M is diverse. You will get to know people from all over the world and from many backgrounds.
- You usually need to be invited over; potlucks are typical.
- Don’t expect to see pictures of food on the menus!
- Diversity, Equity, & Inclusion (DEI): gender pronouns, accessibility, etc.
Common Challenges

- Homesickness
- Loss of support systems
- Lack of meaningful relationships
- Language difficulties
- U.S. immigration regulatory restrictions
- New approaches to learning
- Changing sense of identity
- Unrealistic expectations from family & self
- Financial problems
- Difficulties in home country
- New ways of doing things
U.S. Classroom Expectations

- Relaxed Atmosphere
- Technology Friendly
- Student Centered
- Critical Thinking
